Literacy: never too early, never too late!

September is National Literacy Month

Chatham Literacy provided tutoring services to 248 adults last year so they could earn a GED, become a U.S. citizen, obtain a job or a promotion, and get involved in their community and children's school, among other achievements. Chatham Literacy is embracing National Literacy Month to raise awareness of literacy needs in Chatham County and raise funds in a campaign that promotes the message Literacy....never too early, never too late. Orange Literacy, Durham Literacy, and Literacy Connections of Wayne County will also be participating in their respective counties.

Please buy a literacy t-shirt to support and promote literacy in Chatham County, and to join in the exciting activities planned in September and throughout the coming year. This is not just any t-shirt. Your shirt is your ticket to Chatham Literacy events and benefits, including the ones described below.

Buy a t-shirt now to support literacy education in Chatham County, and reap the rewards!
